UNDERSEA BOAT FROM GERMANY

Deutschland Arrives at Baltimore With a Cargo of Dyes

BRINGS 750-TON LOAD

Chased by Warships, But Eludes Pursuers, and is Safe After a 4,000 Mile Trip

Baltimore, July 10—Breaking through the British blockade, eluding hostile warships and diving frequently to the ocean basin to escape detection, the monster German submarine merchantman—the Deutschland at 1:45 o'clock yesterday morning passed in the Virginia Capes, bound for Baltimore. She is now lying off Quarantine, awaiting inspection and to be placed in bond.

In her compartments there are 1,000 tons of dyestuffs, so badly needed in this country, possibly for the manufacture of currency and stamps, and a sack of mail from the Fatherland.

In a secret compartment is stored a confidential message to President Wilson, penned by Kaiser Wilhelm, possibly declaring the intention of the German government to establish a permanent undersea merchant service between the Fatherland and this country, and asserting the pledge of neutrality.

Coincident with the arrival off Quarantine last night of the Deutchland there came word that another submarine is en route to this country, and that it will arrive within the next week or 10 days. These two vessels are to form the nucleus of a permanent undersea merchant trade between this country and Germany.

The submarine is the first merchantman to cross the Atlantic.

When she docks at her pier she will lie within a stone's throw of the spot where the world's first submarine, in the shape of a cigar boat, was built by Ross Winans.

Every precaution has been taken to guard the vessel jealously. To this end, a eet of barges, purchased months ago, will be towed around the pier, when the vessel docks today. A steel wire cage will also be placed around it, to prevent approach from either land of water, and half a score of big policemen will enforce the orders of the Eastern Forwarding Company and keep the curious away.

The submarine's feat in breaking through the Great Britain's war zone will probably complicate the status of the blockade so far as neutral nations are concerned, inasmuch as it has virtually robbed the blockade of the word "effective."

This German submarine is the largest afloat. The largest German war models are less than 300 feet long. But this submarine of commerce is 315 feet long, exactly one third the length of the largest merchant vessels afloat—the Vaterland and the Imperator.

The boat carries no passengers. Her cargo consists entirely or dyestuffs. This keeps her very low in the water when riding on the surface. Her draft when she was sighted was 17 feet and it was largely because of her depth that she did not try to come nearer land when she submerged.

She is commanded by Captain Kairig and has a crew of 29 men. Both captain and crew are drawn from the German merchant fleet and not from the Navy. The craft is unarmed.

Norfolk, Va., July 10—I consider our voyage uneventful. We had very little trouble. Once we had trouble with our underwater lights and air tanks, but they delayed us only a few hours. We were over 800 miles off the short course, which made us behind the time we could make under more favorable conditions.

We ran into rough weather almost every day for a week. We were forced to submerge on these occasions to escape high seas. It is more comfortable under water when the sea is rough. We could not stand on our feet on the surface, and the cargo began to shift.

When we passed near the Diamond Shoal lightship we were partly submerged, the weather was so rugh. Our vessel was not under water more than two hours Saturday.

When we got our bearings good and knew it was not safe to be submerged while trying to get to port, we made a run for it Saturday afternoon. We proceeded cautiously. Some times we were doing our best and then we would stop altogether. We changed the color of our vessel so that she would be hard to sight even at a few miles.

We ran close to the shore line all of Saturday and by night we were very well up. We were delayed at night by being unfamiliar with the coast and because of the constant flashes of light from passing ships. Some were merchantment and some might have been warships. We could not tell at night without a close view and we could see only the searchlight at intervals. We judged the ships, if they were war vessels, were also proceeding without lights.

When we go back we may go another way so as to get home quickly and avoid the danger of encountering storms. There is as much danger in storms, perhaps more, than in meeting an enemy.

There is always a chance to avoid the enemy, but the storms drive you below the surface when you could make so much time.

We had litt esickness en route and our food supply was good and plentiful. We still have some left.

Our ship is as good as new. We made the voyage in good time, considering the difficulties we encountered, and probably will do better going back.

MOON TO BE IN ECLIPSE

Will Enter Earth's Shadow Next Friday Night

There will be a partial eclipse of the moon next Friday night, which will be v isible at different intervals in all parts of the United States. By Washington time the moon will enter the shadow of the earth at 10:11 Friday night, the middle of the eclipse occurring at 11:37 o'clock and at 1:04 o'clock Saturday morning the moon will be entirely without the earth's shadow.

A peculiar feature is that the moon is full five minutes before the middle o fthe eclipse occurs. The moon reaches its fullest dimensions at 11:32 o'clock Friday night, Washington time, while the middle of the eclipse occurs at 11:37 o'clock.

SHOOTS DESPERATE NEGRO.

James James, a negro, who has been living at Hopewell, was fatally shot yesterday morning in Petersburg by Police Officer Guy Blankenship while resisting arrest. Armed with a large bread knife, James came to Petersburg to hunt a man who, he claimed, had stolen four suits of clothes from him. His action in the alley attracted a large crowd, and Officer Blankenship was sent for. James defied arrest. Officer Blankenship called Officer Magee to his assistance. The officers threw themselves o James, and he resisted strenuously. It was fially necessary to shoot the desperate negro.

UNLICENSED DOGS

City Auditor E. F. Price has issued 427 dog licenses to date this year. This is a much smaller number than in former years at this time. The police will shortly commence their annual crusade against unlicened dogs and owners who have not gotten tags will be brought before the police court.

Mrs. Whi tcomb was operating the car, and in descending the steep hill lost control of the machine, which swerved into the gutter and struck a guy wire and upset.

FRENCH DRAW NEAR PERONNE

Advance Within Two Miles of Important Railway Center

FALL OF KOVEL NEAR

Russian Troops Occupy Puleviche, Twenty-Four Miles East of Important Fortress

(Paris, July 10.)—French troops pressed closer to the railway town of Peronne, the immediate objective of their great offensive, in furious fighting south of the Somme last night, capturing a German line of trenches in the region of Barleux southwest of Peronne.

At the same time, the French broke out with an attack in the Champaign region, capturing German trenches west of Butte le Mesnil on a 500-yard front after three attacks.

London, July 10—The eastern front continues to overshadow the western from the spectacular viewpoint, the Russian forces going from success to success. Not only has General Letchitzky, in the south, occupied the railroad junction at Delatyn, west of Kolomea, thus cutting off General von Bothmer from his supply base, but General Brusiloff, in the north, is making surprising advances on both sides of the Kovel railway toward the Stockhod river.

Last night's Russian communication reports the enemy forces in this region retiring in great disorder, and adds that the Russians have occupied Puleviche, which is about 24 miles to the east of Kovel, while apparently the Russians are already across the Stokhod river somewhere in the region of Janovka.

German possession of Baranovichi and Kovel are absolutely essential if she is to retain her hold over the invadede parts of Poland and Litruania, but it is considered likely that it is ony a matter of a few days before the Russians will be in possession of Kovel, which would compel Von Linsingen's retirement from the Lutsk salient.

German official and unofficial dispatches reflect anxiety over the Russian advance as being greater than over the Anglo-French offensive, which the German military critics contend will not interfere with the operations against Verdun. Major Moraht and other German critics express surprise at the extent and persistence of the Russian offensive on a large scale without reinmunition.

It is reported from Rome that at a recent council of German and Austrian marshals, Von Hindenburg declared that it would be impossible to attempt a new offensive on a large scale without reinforcements of at least a quarter of a million men.

The news of yesterday shows little change in the relative positions on the western front. Berlin admits the loss of Hardecourt.

The Roumanian Government, according to a Berne dispatch, has declined an invitation from the German and Austrian governments to participate in a conference of the Danube powers.

Petrograd, July 10—Important gains by the Russians are announced in the War Office statement. In Southern Galicia the railway town of Delatyn has been captured. In the drive toward Kovel the Russians have taken two more villages. On the lower Stokhod the Teutonic forces are retiring in great disorder.

ON WAY TO THE BORDER

Letter Telling of Trip of Alexandria Light Infantry From Richmond South.

On board Virginia Troop Train, somewhere in Alabama, July 7. — Company G. entrained at 7:30 o'clock Thursday morning at the yards near its deserted camp site on the State Fair grounds, and the long trip to the Texas border was begun.

With the rest of the battalion of which it is a part, the company responded to reveille at 3 o'clock with the stars still shining and the chill that preceedes the dawn making the air rather nippy. After a hurried breakfast, the work of breaking camp was commenced. Cots were folded and loaded on the wagons, tents struck and folded and hauled to the baggage car, pegs pulled up and boxed, and the ditches smoothed over.

The men, reclining on their blanket rolls and haversacks, presented more of a military aspect than had any phase of the encampment preceding.

The train left over the Seaboard Air Line tracks headed for Charlott, but never reached it. Sleeping cars promised the battalion at that point were not available, and the train was diverted to Raleigh. Here hopes already shaky were shattered, and no order to detrain coming in, as the train pulled out of the station, the men started to prepare for a night in the day-coaches. Backs of the seats came off and were laid across the space between two seats. This made a tolerable couch, for two, though rather humpy in the middle. There were not quite enough seats to give each man one, so some were left without a share, even in such a double berth. These pitched their blanket rolls in the aisle or slept curled up in a corner seat. One or two slept half in the smoking-room and half in the aisle.

By four o'clock, tired bodies refused to respond further to such appeals for repose, and the few sleepy one were thoroughly awakened by the clatter and bustle ofthe majority getting up and dressing.

Toilet facilities were even less adequate than sleeping quarters. The supply of water for washing was exhausted after a mere handful had scraped off the grime of a cindery night, and the drinking water, diverted to ablutions, did not last much longer.

The high spirit of the men that marked their departure from Camp Stuart has not, however, been dampened by these inconveniences—not even by the continuous rainy weather that has marked the trip since the first day out. Good humour also received two tremendous boosts last night, at Southern pines, and Monroe, North Carolina. No stop was made at the first-named place, but as the tran rolled slowly through, baskets of peaches were handed up through the windows by cheering townspeople, a crowd of whom was lined up along the tracks waving flags and handkerchiefs.

It was at Monroe, however, that the spirit of the men received their biggest boost. Here a water-stop was made, and as the train rolled in about dusk, the station was already crowded with residents of the town. Girls somehow seemed to make up most of the crowd, and others poured in as the noisy troopers began singing and cheering in response to the greetings they received.

One brave miss broke the ice by tripping over to the Alexandria boys' car and responding to the cordial shake of a khaki-clad arm, Not willing to be thought partial, she started down the line of windows, from each of which a half-projected body cheered her good-fellowship and reached out a rather grimy hand to touch her laughing white one, as it tripped down the line of windows.

Her example was quickly followed by others of Monroe's prettiest, and soon the whole train eighteen cars long, was almost a solid line of handshakings and laughing sallies of wit and harmless flirtation.

The greetings exchanged, a remaining few minutes were not allowed to drag. The girls stood under the windows and smiled at favored ones. Some wrote their names in the little Testaments that each of Virginia's soldier boys carries through the courtesy of citizens of Staunton, with the name usually came a promise to reply to a postal card or letter from "the front"—and perhaps many a night under the stars will find a guardsman on the Texas border wondering how seriously a stranger lass meant her "Come back soon!". GERMANS BACK THE PRESIDENT

Republican Leader in Milwaukee Pledge Him Support

APPEALS TO OTHERS

Action Considered Indicative of Course Thousands of Other Teutons Will Follow

Washington, July 10—A big break in the ranks of German-American Republicans in favor of President Wilson's re-election was announced Saturday, when Senator Husting, of Michigan, made public a telegram sent the President by Gen. F. C. Winkler, of Milwaukee, one of the northwest, in which he states that he will support President Wilson and urges all "true Americans" to do likewise.

General Winkler's telegram is as follows:

"Have read your New York Press Club address with great satisfaction. A Republican voter since 1860, I hold in the present crisis the party has no place. True Americanism must stand by the man who manfully stands at the helm. I support your re-election.

" F. C. WINKLER"

Senator Husting's office, in giving out this telegram, stated that it forecasts a serious division in the ranks of the German Republicans in the Northwest and that President Wilson would receive many of these votes, which for years had been consistently Republican.

"It shows that the real citizens of German origin are not controlled by these self-styled leaders who are decrying the President," it was stated at Senator Husting's office. "President Wilson will receive thousands of the so-called German-American votes. General Winkler's announcement marks a turning point in which it will soon be seen that thousands of Germans now realize that President Wilson, by his patient diplomatic negotiations, kept this country from going to war with their fatherland instead of plunging the United States into the European struggle, and therefore, that other announcements like General Winkler's will soon follow."

General Winkler is the most influential German Republican in Wisconsin, Since the death of Carl Schurz he has been known as the "Carl Schurz" of Wisconsin. He is prominent in state and municipal politics. He led and won the fight for civil service reform in Milwaukee. He had charge of the movement which gave Milwaukee its model charter. He has never sought office and his voice and influence have always gone toward what he regards is right. This fact has given him a powerful following all over the Northwest.

In the Civil War General Winkler fought side by side with Carl Schurz He has served as a member of the Republican State Central Committee. He was a delegate to the Republican National Convention which nominated Garfield for President. He was prevailed upon o none occasion to stand for election to the Wisconsin Legislature. He has always been a stanch Republican and has never before supported a Democratic candidate for President.

The announcement of Gen. Winkler strengthens the accumulating evidence being received in Washington that the German-Americans are not following blindly the few so-called leaders. Information has been received here by the Democratic members of Congress that President Wilson will receive more German-American votes than any other Democratic President, this statement being based upon the impression that for every Democratic German-American who deserts Wilson there will be a German Republican who will vote for him. The fact, it is stated, that Wilson's methods prevented a war with Germany is at last making the President many friends among those who left the fatherland to make their homes here.

Police Arrest Certain Parties Who Have For Years Been Vagrants.

There has ever been a certain class of persons in this city, black and white, who are regular patrons of the Police Court, generally to answer charges of misdemeanors. When nominal fines are imposed, which they fail to pay, the city is put to te expense of maintaining them in jail, where in cold weather they nestle around stoves and smoke between meals. Two of this class were before the Police Court this morning.

The first to be ushered in was Jim Lucas, who joined the ranks of the indolents while in his boyhood, enlisting for life. He was charged with stealing $37.50 from a colored man, and although the circumstantial evidence against Lucas was strong, it was impossible to prove the allegation. He was, however, charged by the police with being a vagrant, with no permanent home and with a decided aversion to work and likely to become a public charge. He was given a ninety-day sentence, which makes him eligible for work upon the roads.

Henry Wells, colored, a humpbacked man, who generally plants himself at Prince and Royal streets on Sunday mornings posing as a bootblack, was the other person of this type. Wells, while in his cups, is insolent and vulgar, and he has been before the Police Court on several occasions. He was charged this morning with being drunk and with vagrancy. When asked if he had anything to say in his defence, he smiled, only this and nothing more. He will be a guest at the city farm with Joshua Sherwood as his host during the next three months.

PLAN TO FIGHT JUNIOR SENATOR

Republican Leaders Announce They Will Put Up Candidate

OFFER TEMPTATIONS

Glass and Tucker Reject Overtures—Democrats Manifest No Uneasiness Over Matter

Washington, July 19.— Virginia Republican leaders, after a series of conferences with county leaders, announced yesterday that a Republican candidate for the United States Senate in opposition to Senator Claude A. Swanson, the Democratic nominee, will be placed in the field this summer, Representative Bascom Slemp, Republican State chairman refuses to say whether or not the Swanson opponent will be a dyed-in-the-wool Republican or an independent Democrat, but promises that the candidate will be a big man.

During the last three months Republican leaders have made overtures to Representative Carter Glass and Harry St. George Tucker to run as independent candidates, promising them 60,000 Republican votes. Both Mr. Glass and Mr. Tucker spurned any such suggestion before the proposal got very far.

Mr. Slemp and other Republican leaders then began to discuss the names of several of the big business men of Richmond, Lynchburg and Norfolk, with the idea that one of them could be prevailed upon to make the race against Senator Swanson. John W. Craddock, the big shoe manufacturer of Lynchburg, and H. W. Anderson, the Richmond lawyer, were talked of, but it is not learned whether or not any proposal was ever made to either by the Republican leaders.

Senator Swanson and the Democratic leaders in Washington are not losing sleep over the movement to place in the field a republican candidate for the Senate. Senator Swanson remarks that the movement is a weak one, as the Republican leaders have been trying for months to get a Democrat to run and have failed.

"They are so destitute of Senatorial timber in their own party," said the junior Virginia senator several days ago, "that they feel they must go outside of their party to lead their cause. The situation looks to me as though the Republican party, instead of becoming stronger as is claimed, is really growing weaker."

The determination of the Democrats to oppose Representative Slemp for reelection is one of the factors which inspires State-wide opposition to the Democrats. Political fights in the Ninth Virginia district are costly affairs, and if a Democrat opposes Mr. Slemp this year it will take a goodsized bankroll to get the vote out. Many of the Republican leaders do not like Senator Swanson. The junior Senator campiagned in the Ninth district two years ago and severely arraigned Representative Slemp. These Ninth district Republicans therefore, desire to cause the junior Senator as much discomfort as possible in his fight for re-election.

TODAY THE LAST TIME

Tonight at 7:30 in the office of Commissioner of Revenue Charles H. Callahan, a meeting of the board of tax review will be held, to go over the tax returns.

Two Shopkeepers, Charged With Conducting Business on Sunday, Before Police Court

Two Alexandria shopkeepers were haled into the Police Court this morning to answer the charge of conducting business on Sunday.

The first was Morris Loeb. He is of the orthodox Jewish persuasion, and it was shown that he observes the seventh day of the week instead of the first, and that his store was closed last Saturday. The charge was dismissed, but Loeb was told that he must not place his articles of merchandise upon the sidewalks on Sunday in future.

Jacob Shapiro was the next to face the bar. The officer who had cited him to appear directed Shapiro, who conducts business at Wolfe and Columbus streets, to close his place after midnight Saturday, but that after he had served the people in the store at the time of notification he allowed others to enter and did not refuse to sell until 12:25 o'clock. He was fined $5, but was told he would not be required to pay the assessment until after the Corporation Court shall hae ruled upon the appeal taken several weeks ago by J. Reece Caton. A decision in this case will probably be rendered this week.

ALMOST FAINTED WHILE STANDING

And Suffered Dreadfully from Headache, Backache and Dizziness. Says now that its Foolish for People to Suffer like that.

"I know now its foolish for people to suffer from headaches, backache, dizziness, constipation, pains in back, gas on the stomach and nervousness" said Mrs. C. M. Hauser, of 211 Sixth street, northeast, Washington, D. C., recently, a well known lady of that section. "I suffered like that, and almost fainted several times. My liver was very inactive and caused me plenty of trouble, also the constipation and gastritis was awful. My husband was always a great believer in root and herb medicines, so brought a bottle of Dreco for me to try. From the very first it helped me and I have now finished two bottles and all my troubles have disappeared. Dreco surely performed wonders in my case and I gladly recommend it to everyone."

Dreco is on sale at Allen's Drug Store in Alexandria.

"NEW TESTAMENT SABBATH"

Evangelist Gibson Insists That Saturday Should Be the Christian Day of Rest

Nothwithstanding the rain last night a number of persons assembled in the gospel tent on north Washington street to hear Evangelist Gibson's address on the "New Testament Sabbath." The speaker quoted a number of passages from the Bible which he construed to mean that the seventh day, not the first, should be observed as the Sabbath. He claimed that this is taught by both the Old and New Testaments and that Jesus Christ rested from his work of redemption on the seventh day when he lay in his grave. The evangelist asserted that the seventh day will be observed as a day of rest throughout eternity, quoting from Isaiah 66—2-22-23.

The evangelist will tonight examine all texts in the New Testament which mention the first day of the week.

SUGGESTIVE OF THE ANABASIS.

The return to their homes of certain young men of Alexandria who offered their services as soldiers a week or so ago, when war with Mexico seemed inevitable, together with their experience is a sad commentary upon the authorities of the Old Dominion if their statements are correct, as no appreciation whatever of their gallant act was manifest. The fact that theye were rejected for physical causes upon their arrival in Richmond was through no fault of their own. They had left their homes after having their services accepted here, but upon their arrival in the capital city they had been virtually set adrift as tramps to return to their homes in any way they could. According to their tory, they were left to shift for themselves, no provision having been made for their entertainment. Such procedures are liable to cause unconcern should the state at any future time need recruits.

The description given by Xenophon of the retreat of the ten thousand from Persia after they had participated in the expedition of Cyrus the younger against his brother, Artaxxerxes of Persia, is a familiar story to school boys, and while the few Alexandrians had no such terrible experience as that of the Anabasis, the spirit shown upon that occasion by those in whose interests they had left their homes is identical.

The young men referred to are telling their tales of woe to relatives and friends, and their experience is causing a blot upon the fair name of their mother state.

Some of these youngsters are relatives of men who wore the gray. They have often heard their elders tell of the hardships of war, when men were glad to procure hard corn upon the cob and were compelled to wear the same clothes indefinitely. They little supposed that at a time when war was only on paper they, too, would be called upon to rough it in a similar manner.

The explanation of all this is eagerly awaited by the young men as well as by their relatives and friends.

GERMANY'S ORDEAL.

As is suggested by a contemporary, this is the darkest hour that Germany has faced during the present war, and it is the brightest which has come to the Allies. At the outset Germany had everything her own way on land. She was almost within hail of Paris, when her plans went awry. But for Von Kluck's impetuosity, but for Gallieni's quickness of thought and action, the great contest now in progress in the Somme region would never have taken place. France, in all probability, would have been overpowered before Great Britain could have come to her relief with the vast army which she now has in the field, and France disposed of, the Central Powers would have been able to devote the greater part of their strength to bringing Russia to terms. This was the German military program, but it miscarried just when the first part of it seemed upon the point of being realized. Tme question in the early fall of 1914 was whether France and Russia would not be beaten and eliminated, one after the other, before they were in a position to co-operate, leaving Great Britain to stand up alone against Germany and Austria. The question in 1916 is whether Germany can save herself and her weaker partner from absolute disaster. It is no longer a matter of conquest for her; it is a matter of self-preservation.

Military critics have insisted for months that the pressure necessary to force terms of peace favorable to the entente cause must come from Russia.

On the eastern front the Russians have won victory after victory, and are far advanced in Galicia. More than 500,000 Austrians and Germans are said to be incapacitated, and there has been no serious permanent check to their great drive. It remains to be seen whether German support can again save Austria from disaster. If not, it would seem that the war has entered upon its final stage.

WONDERS OF THE SUBMARINE.

The arrival at Baltimore of the German submarine Deutschland from Kiel is among the wonders of the twentieth century. The undersea boat, notwithstanding the many prophecies of what it was thought would be the inevitable fate of such a venture, the voyage has actually made. Germany is jubilant over this remarable feat, and she has good reason to be so.

Nothing seems impossible to determined men. Hannibal and Napoleon crossed the Alps, defying nature and prophecies, a vessel has made the northward passage, sailing from ocean to ocean through fields of ice in the Arctic zone, and a German submarine has actually crossed the Atlantic. Truly, we live in a day of wonders.

This vessel has without mishap made an ocean voyage of over 4,000 biles, making nearly half that journey under sea. She has brought a cargo of over a thousands tons of incstimable value, largely consisting of dye, of which the cloth manufacturing interests of this country have been very short since the war began and which they will be glad to purchase at almost any price.

When on May 25, the first announcement was made that the submarine was coming to this country many looked upon the story as pure fiction and the undersea boat as a myth on the order of the Flying Dutchman. They could not believe that such a voyage could be made or that Germany would take the risk of sending such a boat across the great pond. But Germany has done this, done it well, done it in spite of the British blockade, in spite of British warships that have been hunting for the boat ever since she left port. They even watched for her off the Virginia capes but she was able to submerge and elude them.

Germany has the laugh on Great Britain for sure. True, the arrival of the Deutschland will not check the Allied drive nor hold back the Russians in their forward march. It will be to help to the German armies, will not delay their final defeat, which it is now believed is sure to come. But it does prove, as has often been proved before, that Germany can do big things and do them well.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Three persons were killed yesterday by lightning near Boston, Two of the victims sought refuge under a tree. The third was killed while standing in the doorway of a barn.

Theodore Roosevelt has made formal application to the War Department for permission to recruit a division —20,000 strong, — if war should some.

T. E. Pattie, a prominent merchant of Warrenton, who was found Thursday morning lying near the Southern Railway tracks with a fractured skull, died yesterday afternoon not having regained consciousness.

The German steamship Dorita, of 3,689 tons gross, has been sunk by a Russian submarine off Oernskoeld Sweden. The steamship was sent to the bottom after the crew had taken to the boats.

A self-styled anarchist yesterday fired a shot at President de la Plaza as the latter was standing on a balcony of the government building in Buenos Ayres, reviewing troops. The shot went wild and the would-be assassin was arrested.

In attempting to arrest Eli S. Carr, ,30, for drunkeness, early yesterday, George M. Little, 45, and Elmer Stevenson, 30, patrolmen, were shot and killed by the man. Carr was captured after being shot through the hip.

The French in the fighting on the west front of the last day have captured an additional 1,000 German prisoners. The total number of Germans taken captive in the eight days' Picardy campaign now approximates 20,000. More than 25,000 Russian soldiers have been sent to the allies' front and by now, no doubt, have been thrown into battle. The Russians journeyed more than 17,500 miles to reach the scene of action.

Her conditon unchanged since she was brought unconscious to a city Hospital in Atlantic City, N. J., early Thursday morning from a shack in which she was discovered nude, at Somers Point, the ailment from which a young woman, now known as "The Girl of Mystery," is suffering, is baffling physicians and mystifying the authorities. Marks found on the girl's body indicate that she was terribly beaten, apparently with a hammer.

Veiled comments in Rome on the Russo-Japanese alliance by the press indicate that the old Italo-German alliance is perhaps superseded by a Russo-Italian one for Balkan and Mediterranean questions. It is pointed out that relations have been excessively cordial recently; also that Russia's armies are more active against the Austrians than the Germans. The Popolo Romano states regarding the Russo-Japanese alliance that Italy must closely watch the attitude of the United States toward it.

The notification ceremonies, at which Charles E. Hughes, in his speech of acceptance, will define in detail his attitude toward national issues, will take place in New York, Monday, July 31. Almost immediately afterward the nominee will begin his trip to the Pacific coast, returning in time to deliver several speeches in Maine before the close of the State campaign early in September. It is probable that Col. Roosevelt and William H. Taft, also will be asked to speak in Maine, and it is more than possible that on at least one occasion the two former Presidents will appear on the same platform with Mr. Hughes. The Republicans will make a strong bid for the State bordering Mason and Dixon's line on the South this year.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Richard Evelyn Byrd, of Winchester, former Speaker of the House of Delegates and LeRoy Hodges, of Prince George county, were yesterday appointed by Governor Stuart members of the Commission on Economy and Efficiency created by an act of the last General Assembly.

In pursuance to a call issued by Lieut. A. H. Carter, Capt. W. H. Clifford, David B. Tennant and others, about 22 of the prominent Loudoun county men met at Purcellville for the purpose of organizing a troop of cavalry, the services of which would be offered to the Government in case of war.

Rev. George W. McDaniel, D.D., pastor of the First Baptist Church in Richmond has offered his services, through the office of Governor Stuart to the military authorities and now, while he is at Virginia Beach attending the annual Baptist encampment. he is awaiting the action of the War Department to which his application was referred.

William E. Brown, 19 years old, of Bruceton, who had been an automobile driver for the L. I. Matirn Line for a month, died in a hospital in Martinsburg, W. Va. yesterday from injuries received Saturday night when his automobile crashed into a telephone pole on the Williamsport pike, Brown and two passengers, Hezekiah Snyder and Robert Furley, both of Martinsburg, were pinned beneath the wreckage. Snyder and Furley are in a hospital in a critical condition, with little hope of their recovery.

Another engagement between 250 revolutionists in Santo Domingo and American marines, in which 27 Dominicans were killed and five captured and one marine killed and eight wounded was reported to the Navy Department yesterday by Rear Admiral Caperton. The fight occurred July 1, before the tentative agreement was made for the disarmament of the rebels. The American killed was Corporal George Fravee. Only one of the othes marines was wounded seriously. The revolutionists were routed, Admiral Caperton reported, carrying off a number of wounded during their retreat.

Lying at the point of death in the home of her mother, Mrs. Minnie Laura Ford is the victim of her husband's wrath, while the recreant husband is in hiding in the woods and swamps off Three Chopt Road, near Ridge Church. After a quarrel at their little farm home, thre miles above Ridge Church, near Richmond yesterday afternoon Philip Ford, a farmer, shot his wife in the abdomen with a .31 calibre rifle. in the presence of three children, and then sped away to the woods. Mrs. Ford is 37 years old.

Charging Judge William R. Barksdale, of Halifax and Attorney Benjamin Watkins Leigh, of Houston, with secretly preparing against him charges which were, for the most part, proven later to be unfounded—a proceeding which he characterized as "part of a contemptible plot" to secure his removal as Examiner of Records for the Sixth Judicial Circuit—James E. Easley has announced his intention to consult counsel as to the advisability of testing the legality of the Tax Board's action in summarily removing him from office.

Death ended suddenly Thursday evening the career of Rev. Alfred H. Burroughs of Bristol's Gretna Green, who had married 5,142 eloping couples at his hotel for eloping couples. He was found dead in his garden, where he had gone to work after supper hour. Although eighty-three years of age, he retained his physical powers in a remarkable degree, and kept up the practice from year to year of meeting all trains in order to accommodate young people eloping from the Virginias to be married. In a career of 27 years as a marrying parson, he had married young people of all ranks and stations in life, and was known throughout America and in Europe.

In a statement issued by the Treasury Department it is shown that Virginia contributed $9,588,402.97 to the internal income of the Federal Government during the past fiscal year. The department shows that the second Virginia district yielded a total of $7,407,633 from ordinary sources; that is, from whisky, wines, beer, tobacco, etc.; $367,234.40 from the tax on corporations, and $239,884.86 from the tax on corporations, and $239,884.86 from the tax on individual incomes—a total of $8,041,853,-17. The collections in the sixth Virginia district were much smaller. In all,, $1,217,347.80 was received from ordinary sources, $279,554.76, from the corporation tax, and $49,647.24 from the tax on individual incomes.

The first case under the ouster law in Chase City, was heard yesterday in the Mayor's Court. It included the operation of a ice plant on Sunday. C. R. Boswell, the general manager of the place, and three of his workmen were tried separately, the former being fined $20 and costs, and the others $5 and costs each, making $6.50 each. The Council recently declared the selling of ice on Sunday a necessity, along with shoe shiners, jitney and newspapers, but said nothing about the manufacture of ice. The mayor held that the manufacture of ice is not a necessity and contrued the law so as to make it a separate offense for each one of the workmen. An appeal was taken to the City Council.

Mrs. Margaret Sipe of Harrisonburg was taken to the State Penitentiary Wednesday to serve a five-year term for sending poisoned candy to two other women. She confessed her guilt. On April 1, Mrs. Sipe sent a box of chocolate drops containing strychnine to Miss Kyger, of Grottoes, and Mrs. Hattie Kyger Baugher, of Basic City,, sisters. It happened that a younger sister was made desperately ill by the candy. The intended victims escaped. Mrs. Sipe said that the Kyger women exerted an evil influence over her son, Lemooer Sipe, and that for a year she had brooded over the matter, finally concluding to poison the women.

Having qualified as Executrix of the Estate of Virginia Chauncey deceased, all persons to whom said estate is indebted are requested to present their accounts properly certified for payment, and all persons indebted to said estate are requested to make prompt settlement of said indebtedness.

Lieutenant-Colonel Bernard W. Salomonsky, of the Fourth Regiment, yesterday took active charge as commander of Camp Henry Carter Stuart, succeeding Brigadier. General Cecil C. Vaughan. jr., of the First Brigade, who because of the marked diminution in the ranks of soldiers assembled at the concentration point, has been relieved of further service by the Adjutant-General. With the commanding officer, several other officers designated to assist him n getting the troops in shape for border service will return to their home stations.

Dr. O. C. The prices of Maxwell Cars are again reduced—$595 for the Touring Car and $580 for the Roadster are the new prices—effective July 1st, 1916. Only the price is changed—not the car.

We emphasize this point because you might well suppose that a lowered price would necessitate some changes in the Maxwellg car—somethin taken from its complete equipment—or some lowering of Maxwell standards of quality.
